

ABOUT

DR. NATASHA DAVIS

AUTHOR · SPEAKER · ADVOCATE

I'm Dr. Natasha Davis — an author, speaker, and advocate. My work is born from lived experience: navigating spiritual abuse, reclaiming my own identity, and learning to stand fully in who God created me to be.

I didn't set out to build a platform or chase titles. I answered a call to walk in truth, without performance or pretense, and to use my voice for what I once had no words for.

MY TESTIMONY

From rejection to restoration, my story is proof that brokenness doesn't get the final word. I've walked through family dysfunction, spiritual abuse, and seasons of deep loss — and found that God wastes nothing. Every chapter, even the hardest ones, has become part of the message I now carry through my writing and speaking.

MY CREDENTIALS

- Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP), Population Health Leadership — Xavier University
- Master of Science in Nursing (MSN)
- Bachelor of Science in Psychology — Northern Kentucky University
- Published neuroscience researcher (American Journal of Alzheimer's Disease & Other Dementias, 2007)
- Aspiring Civil Rights Attorney, preparing for law school

WHAT I BELIEVE

- I believe in the Holy Trinity — Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.
- God gets the glory in every season.
- Nothing is wasted with God.
- We were never meant to walk through restoration alone.

WHO THIS IS FOR

- Anyone navigating spiritual abuse, grief, or betrayal
- Anyone ready to reclaim their identity and intimacy with God
